

28th FEB 2013

Dearest Pammy

I just wanted to write and express my sincerest thanks to you for being so supportive and so patient explaining and encouraging me to take out my income protection insurance policy. At a time when one is presumably so well, living life to the max, working in a high pressured stressful job, it is so easy to keep putting off making that commitment of securing what may or may not happen in the future. I guess most of us think we are invincible and don't ever stop to imagine that our lives can so suddenly change our future overnight. We don't want to think about paying out that monthly premium thinking it could be a waste of $'s. Cancer was my worst fear, and I never dreamed it would happen to me. As you know we wouldn't be where we are today if I hadn't taken out that policy. Every month I received the payment. I verbally expressed my hugest thanks.

I received my final payment this week. so as from next month I will be a "Pensioner" and making do on the meagre Superannuation. - I will have to seriously get back into my jewel making!!

I hope my putting pen to paper not only to say "Thank-you" Dear Pam, but it may just help some others protect their future with income protection

With my Love, Thanks and Friendship,
Susie. xx

P.S Love to Alan.